March

Lord we know what we are, but know not what we may be.

-William Shakespear

Ely Falls Hike

Jones Hole

Dinosaur National Monument

The trail starts at the bottom of the Jones Hole Fish Hatchery, which is worth a visit, too. The path winds around the bottom of the fish hatchery on the outside. Then, the trail follows the creek gently downhill.

The Trail

About a mile into the hike, right after crossing the bridge, there is a short side trail that turns off to the right. In a very short distance there are some nice petroglyphs.

Dinosaur Tracks

Red Fleet

Prehistoric hike to Dino Tracks!

The Red Fleet Dinosaur Tracks are located in the Red Fleet State Park north of Vernal, Utah. The tracks cover a thin layer of sandstone that slopes into the reservoir making the total number of tracks visible dependent on the current level of the water.

Trailhead

A trail that is 1 mile in length follows a scenic route that takes it to the shore of Red Fleet Reservoir where there are several hundred theropod tracks that were left by Dilophosaurus dinosaurs about 157 million to 206 million years ago.

May

Gratitude is looking on the brighter side of life, even if it means hurting your eyes

Dark Skies

Breathtaking

Dinosaur National Monument

Dinosaur National Monument boasts some of the most magnificent Dark Skies in the state as a designated International Dark Sky Park, perfect for stargazing and connecting with the monument's primordial foundation. Look for Dark Sky programs at the Split Mountain Campground.
